Leibniz Day "Health"

Leibniz debates | Berlin Science Week | Leibniz Day topic Health

As part of the Berlin Science Week and the "Leibniz debates" event, this time on the subject of "vaccination", a Leibniz Theme Day will take place on 5 November 2019 from 5 p.m. at which various Leibniz science campuses and research alliances will introduce themselves, including LSC InfectoOptics. Among other things, the portable 3D-printed microscope will be presented, which is developed in the working group of InfektoOptics project leader Prof. Rainer Heintzmann (Leibniz-IPHT).

All interested parties are cordially invited. Admission is free.
